

Enemy In The Camp

This Continuing Legal Education Course follows the fictionalized story of Chip Langford as he leaves his small farm town and moves to Birmingham to become a lawyer and owner of a small finance company. You can't help but root for Chip as he struggles to fill the role of husband, father, church leader, public servant, lawyer and business owner. Will he pull it off? For Chip, the story ends as he passes through the doors of a federal correctional institute to serve a six year sentence. For his law partners, family and friends the story continues.

This narrative serves as a powerful backdrop to identify situations where professional judgment might be clouded by self-interest or other distractions. More importantly, attendees walk away with several solid take-a-ways to identify hidden enemies in their practice and in their life.

To make sure you don't miss Enemy in The Camp when it comes to your city, be sure and get on the mailing list by clicking here or call me at (205)912-8248.

Brandon L. Blankenship, Birmingham, Hoover, Pelham, Alabama.